HOW THE HOSPITAL BILL DIED.

The Soldiers Hospital bill was introduced simultaneously in both houses of the Oklahoma legislature, January 6. This was the third day of the session. Originally the bill carried an appropriation of $2,000,000. This was when the supporters of the bill believed that the Federal government would take over the hospital and pay for it in ten years.

Later on when it was learned that the Federal government would do nothing the friends of the bill asked for a hospital to be erected and operated by the state. At that time the bill was changed in committee in both houses to carry an appropriation of $800,000. This bill was killed by positive vote in the House of representatives early in February. The friends of the bill then turned to the senate for aid.

The Senate passed the bill February 14 by a vote of thirty-three to four. The Senate bill was sent to the House and there read the first time on February 16. It was read the second time February 18 and on that day referred to the committee on soldiers relief.

The House reduced the appropriation from $800,000 to $500,000 and passed the bill with only two dissenting votes on April 2, just forty-five days after the bill reached the House. It was then sent to the Senate "as amended."

When the bill reached the Senate that body refused to accept the House amendment and asked for a conference. This conference was granted. It was now late in the evening of April 2, the day on which the House adjourned.

The conference committees met at 11.30 o'clock on the evening of April 2. The House conferees were Salter of Cherokee, Smith of Fairview, and Gibson of Purcell. The Senate conferees were Looney of Hollis, Johnson of Walters, and Harrison of Ada.

Forty-seven minutes after the conference met a senate page entered the committee room and announced that the House of Representatives had adjourned sine die. Thereupon the conference broke up.

This is the history of the Soldiers Hospital Bill in the Eighth Legislature. The original copy of the bill, marked with dates as set out above, is now in the office of the Evening News.

"AS A MAN THINKS, SO IS HE."

Some ten nights ago we turned the corner at the Harris hotel on Main and ran into a half dozen American citizens engaged in the pleasant pastime of administering on the estate of creation. To hear them tell it the world had already come to its final end. Business was dead, prosperity was dead, prices were dead—in short, everything on the earth, above the earth, and in the waters under the earth had blown up for keeps and this oblate spheroid was headed straight for the bow wows.

Every man in the gloom party was broke, knew he was broke, knew he would always be broke, and not even the power that made Judea the land of miracles could restore breath to the business carcass of Oklahoma.

But last night we turned the same corner and ran into the same crowd. It was the same old crowd but different. Each man was taller and wider out and had added several horsepower to the volume of his voice. Some unfamiliar wildcatter with a Gallican name had discovered an oil bearing sand northwest of Ada and the old world had turned right side up again. Business was booming, prosperity had woke up, prices were doing a cake-walk, and the Sun was shining twenty-four hours each day.

That bunch of Americans were just as badly broke as they were ten nights ago, but the essential point is that they didn't think so. They had caught an inspiration and had acquired a new view point. The very possibility of better times had caused them to believe better times had already arrived. Ten nights ago they didn't bounce when they fell; last night they were bouncing like peas in a skillet.

It is all in the state of mind. Nearly all of poverty is the thoughts of poverty; nearly all of wealth is the thoughts of wealth. It's a rare thing that people are as bad off as they think they are. People are always as well off as they believe they are.

CAN THE PEOPLE RULE?

When the late legislature died of strangulated hernia and "each man returned to his own house," as the scriptures say, some of Oklahoma's best began to demand that the defunct appropriation bills should be rescued from the legislative wreck and submitted to a vote of the people. The Daily Oklahoman, most powerful of all state papers advocated the referendum, while the governor of the state manifested unmistakable symptoms of this appeal to Caesar.

But decided opposition to the popular settlement scheme developed. It was said that the plan was not feasible, that no one could prepare the necessary bills or circulate the necessary petitions; that a state wide campaign at this time would disturb the state. So the initiative and referendum suggestion went quietly into the public discard.

But the most striking of all assertions was that the people themselves would defeat the appropriation bills if they ever got a chance to do so. This is per se the most startling declaration of the year. It is an unqualified indictment of popular government in Oklahoma. It is the dual assertion that the people of Oklahoma are too ignorant to know the needs of Oklahoma and are too indifferent to care for the needs of Oklahoma. The mildest of the objectors say that it would be impossible for the people to vote intelligently on appropriation bills. The strongest of the objectors say that the people are sufficiently vicious to kill the appropriation bills and thereby kill the government of the state.

It is an interesting situation. It has created some of the wildest talk Oklahoma ever heard. At the same time it has put some of our publicists in a position where they cannot praise the efficacy of the initiative and referendum for a hundred years. Their opinion of popular rule may be said to have undergone a most radical change.

Among the precious papers that we have filed away in our personal archives is a legislative petition that reads like this: "Vote for the $2,000,000 warehouse bill; vote for the $2,000,000 soldiers hospital, and reduce taxes."

Henry Cabot Lodge, who fought the Columbian Treaty in the Wilson administration, is now fighting for the Columbian Treaty in the Harding administration. Henry Cabot will do anything, if you only let him do it himself.

The Republicans of the eighth district are peeling the Manuel Herrick because the Perry congressman went outside his district to hire a secretary. But Manuel was probably right in deciding that a district that would elect him to congress was subject to the suspicion of incompetency.

The fight for the Federal loaves and fishes is becoming a thing of sound and fury in Oklahoma. Already Jim McGraw has denounced Jim Harris as a blank liar and a blank coward. "Behold how good and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

Hell Roarin' Hiram has come out of his trance and delivered a caustic attack on President Harding. He was closely seconded by Lenroot of Wisconsin, both of who attacked Harding as they formerly attack Wilson. They are simply running true to character and proving that their former attacks on Wilson were nothing but the malignant outbursts of little spirits.

When the House of Representatives adjourned abruptly the other night without informing the Senate of its intentions. It did something very unusual. But the same thing had been done before and right here in Oklahoma. The regular session of the fourth legislature in 1913 adjourned just as the house did the other night and it was the House of Representatives that pulled the trick eight years ago. At that session an agreement had been reached to adjourn at high noon, but the clocks were stopped and the two houses worked till 9 o'clock in the evening. At that hour H. H. Smith of Shawnee called up House Resolution No. 109, which had some bitter opponents in the House. When Smith called up his resolution John Crawford of Ada, who was at that time representative from Pontotoc county, pulled out his watch and read the correct time into the record, which act had the immediate effect of automatically adjourning the House. It was some time before the Senate learned that the House had adjourned.

Discharge One of Trio Charged With Stealing of Horses

Hardin Hulsey of Stonewall, one of the trio arrested at Stringtown Monday on a charge of horse stealing, was discharged yesterday by the officers there being insufficient evidence to warrant holding him. The other two defendants, Sidney Manuel and Pink DeLozier, are still in the county jail.

The preliminary of Manuel and DeLozier has been set for hearing in Judge Brown's court on next Friday. The accused are charged with having stolen a horse from C. C. Carpenter of the Stonewall community. They were arrested in Atoka county while on their way to Antlers and it is said that the horse was found in their possession at the time of their arrest.

Carolina Lady Got So She Could Just Drag—"Cardui Built Me Up," She Declares.

Kernersville, N. C.—In an interesting statement regarding Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, Mrs. Wesley Mabe, of near here, recently said: "I have known Cardui for years, but never knew its worth until a year or so ago. I was in a weakened, run-down condition. I became draggy—didn't eat or sleep to do any good; couldn't do anything without a great effort. I tried different remedies and medicines, yet I continued to drag. I decided to give Cardui a trial, and found it was just what I really needed. It made me feel much stronger soon after I began to use it. I began to eat more, and the nervous, weak feeling began to leave. Soon I was sleeping good."

"Cardui built me up as no other tonic ever did. I used Cardui with one daughter who was puny, felt bad and tired out all the time. It brought her right out, and soon she was as well as a girl could be. We think there is nothing like Cardui."

Do not allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. You may find it just what you really need. For more than 40 years it has been used by thousands and thousands, and found just as Mrs. Mabe describes. At your druggist's. NC-142

Large Oil Well Supply Company May Locate Here

In Monday's issue of the News the statement was made to the effect that the two tanks which have been placed on the ground at the Carter-Nance-LaSelle well had been brought from Muskogee. This was an error, as the tanks were brought here from Okmulgee, having been sold to the syndicate by the Parkersburg Rig and Reel company, which maintains a large branch supply house at Okmulgee.

Messrs. W. E. Pearce of Okmulgee and E. R. Futral of Tulsa, two Oklahoma representatives of this large oil well supply company, were in Ada yesterday and while here informed a representative of the News that they are considering seriously the matter of establishing a branch supply house here to supply the local demand which will be created for their products when developments in the field near Ada get in full swing.

While here the gentlemen visited the Carter-Nance-LaSelle well northwest of the city and both returned to Ada with great faith in the future of the field and almost persuaded by what they found there that it is not necessary to delay the building of the plant. They announced that they expect to keep in close touch with the situation here and will be able to make a decision within the next week or ten days what course to pursue.

The Parkersburg Rig and Reel company is one of the strongest concerns in its field of business and the mere fact that they are considering making a location here speaks well for the field and holds out to Ada an opportunity to add one more business concern to her present list which will rank as a great asset.

Scouts Give Play.

A play was given to the public in the Oak Avenue Baptist church last evening by the Irving school troop of scouts, everybody being given an invitation to attend. Starting off like a federal court the boys in the "Great Pumpkin Case," Guff vs. Muff, made the audience feel as though they were witnessing a real trial in court. The house was packed full and the boys appreciated their presence by doing their very best. Dan Proctor as Judge Fobb, Alton Warr as clerk, Vester Willoughby as lawyer Fozzie, Ralph Morrow as lawyer Squibbs, Wesley McClure as Hi Guff and Jeter Sneed as Abe Muff, and the witnesses, Pike Whipples, Sam Gump, Doctor Poddle and Abraham Snooks represented by Jenks Feaster, Hiram Collins, Floyd Williams and Donald Woods respectively and William Kent as bailiff and Paul Hodges as foreman of the jury, all acted their parts exceptionally well. "The Champion Base Ball Nine," sang like birds and the cornet solo by Richard Taylor and the piano solo by Miss Violet Moore were both well rendered and highly appreciated. The scouts appreciate very much the kindness of Miss Lucille Harrison in assisting them in their practice.

Doctors said it was caused from a pressure of gas that came from my stomach, but their medicine did not help me and I was getting worse all the time. Hypnotism Cure Love-Sickness?

Here Is Private Opinion of An Expert

It appears to be much easier for people to be hypnotized into love than to be hypnotized out of it again.

Love is in itself a condition of hypnosis induced by the ardent lover himself. Its onset may be sudden or insidious.

The prospective lover probably "stops, and looks, and listens" to the voice of some charmer, who at once makes an impression, either faint or vivid, on his senses of sight and hearing.

The magic of love is really not so magic after all. At the first sight of the one who has impressed him the lover suggests to himself that she is a graceful, charming, attractive or bewitching personality.

Now, mental suggestion, self-suggestion or auto-suggestion is one of the most potent forces for either good or evil that plays upon the susceptible mind of humanity's millions.

The lover and his lass fall peculiarly easy the victims to this form of suggestion. If the first impressions made on either of them are reciprocal, each begins the easy task of self-persuasion to the effect that the other is the bravest, or the most beautiful, or in some other way superlatively the best of all created things, and the only one in the world for him or her.

Each persists in repeating this belief at frequent intervals during the day, and probably the last thing at night, just before dropping off to sleep—that is, at the precise moment when self-suggestion operates most powerfully. This persistently repeated belief becomes in time a fixed idea. And so the idea remains, until it comes unstruck by the solvent action of a totally different set of suggestions.

People can not be hypnotized against their will. Why? Because all who pass into the state of hypnosis "sleep" have to co-operate in inducing it by their own self-suggestion, aided and abetted perhaps by the additional suggestion of the hypnotist. In the case of lovers each one acts as the hypnotist to the other, while they both indulge in self-suggestion for all they are worth.

People really never fall in love; they throw themselves into it—in that hypnotic, dreamy, trance-like state of mind which transforms for the time being the real man or woman of everyday life into an impossible and idealized figure of romance. Hence it is obvious that people voluntarily induce the love trance with their eyes open; but once in that dreamy state, they firmly close their eyes to all the many imperfections of their fellow hypnotists.

If a man is deeply in love with a girl, or a girl with a man, is it possible, it may be asked, to influence them against love? In other words can a hypnotist arrest love, or awaken a lover from his or her love trance?

The answer is in the negative. If the love were only a passing fancy hypnotic suggestion by a second party might change it; but true love comes under the influence of self-suggestion alone. It is of the instinct.

Determine to—and You Will! It is not only, however, in the limited domain of love that suggestion from within, or from outside, plays a part. Suggestion in one or other of its forms is acting on our minds at every hour of the day.

To suggest to yourself success in any undertaking on which, you are about to embark is far more likely to bring about the desired result than would be the case if you were to suggest the possibility of failure. Think success, and in all human probability you must succeed; think failure, and you must fail.

The reason for this is that every thought, especially every thought-producing emotion, tends to become an action. What we think persistently, we do or become.—Tit-Bits.

ALL KINDS OF AIR CRAFT FOR BIG RACE

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., April 19.

—All types of heavier-than-air aerial craft, from the light speedster machines to the freight carrying plane, will be seen in action here September 8, 9 and 10, when the international air races are to be held.

Four races have been arranged, chief of which will be the free-for-all classic for the Pulitzer trophy.

The first event will be for the freight carrying planes capable of 75 miles or more an hour. The course will be triangular, starting at Selfridge Field, and swinging around at the Aviation Country Club, west of Pontiac, the Packard Flying Field, Detroit, and back to Selfridge Field. The contestants will cover the course four times, a total distance of 264 miles, and the three with the best elapsed time, start to finish, will divide $2,500. First prize will be $1,500; second $750 and third, $250.

The second event, also to be held September 8, will be for light commercial planes of the two seated type. It will be flown over the same course as the freight plane event, but the result will be determined on a point system, which will take into account speed in taking off and landing. Entrants must have a speed of 80 miles or better an hour. The prizes total $2,500.

Over the same course the third event for light passenger planes capable of at least 90 miles an hour will be raced September 9. The point system of scoring will determine the division of $2,500 in prize money in this event.

For the Pulitzer trophy, final event of the program, September 10, a smaller course has been mapped out. It will be four times around a triangular course totalling 160 miles.

The points of the triangle will be at Selfridge Field, Troy, Mich., and Packard Field, Detroit.

A minimum speed of 140 miles an hour is expected of the light one-man machines that will enter the aerial classic. The shortest elapsed time for the four laps will determine the winner.

The Pulitzer race, first held at Mitchell Field, Long Island, last year, is expected to attract flyers from Europe as well as the United States.

Grant Day Dinner.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 20.—United States Senator Joseph F. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey and Congressman William A. Rodenberg of Illinois, will be the principal speakers at the annual Grant Day dinner of the American Republican Club here April 27. The senator will speak on "General Grant" while Mr. Rodenberg will talk on the subject of "The New Freedom."

Gives Tanlac Credit For Splendid Health

T. J. PARKER
4246 Juneau Street, Seattle, Wash.

"I used to think all the Tanlac testimonials were exaggerated, but I have felt thankful a thousand times I ever believed in it strong enough to give the medicine a trial," said T. J. Parker, well-known salesman for Gately's Clothing Store, residing at 4246 Juneau St., Seattle, Wash.

"Several years ago I commenced having periodic spells of sickness and a few months ago I had an attack that I thought would finish me. When I did finally get up, I was scarcely able to go. I had no appetite and what little I forced myself to eat caused so much gas on my stomach I could hardly get my breath.

"At night I was often so bloated I couldn't breathe while lying down and just had to sit up and struggle for air. At times I had cramps so bad I could hardly endure it.

"My liver was sluggish and sometimes I got so dizzy I would nearly fall. I felt tired and miserable all the time, couldn't even sleep and for days at a time I wasn't able to go to work.

"Well, a friend of mine finally got me to try Tanlac, and it certainly has done a good job for me. My appetite is fine now and although I am eating just anything I want and as much as I please, my stomach never gives me the least trouble. I have picked up in weight my strength has come back to me, and I am now enjoying the best of health.

"All the men at the store know Tanlac put me back on my feet, and I am glad to give this statement for what it may be worth to others."

Musical Program Will Be Rendered At Normal School

Work is progressing nicely on the program to be given by the choral organizations of the Normal Wednesday evening, April 27th. If you love the old songs you will want to hear "Old Plantation Days." It is not, however, merely a medley of old favorites, but a modern and thorough work reflecting a period in America's history more or less familiar to all. It is not too much to say that this score is the first to express adequately in music the spirit of the Old Plantation Days, in an original work of beauty and dignity; to again, evoke their charm. Their moments, gladness crowded, Their golden hours unclouded.

A Personal Guarantee of Excellence

To the Public of This City:

In urging that every man, woman and child in this city see "THE STEALERS" at the AMERICAN THEATER today or Thursday, I wish to personally guarantee them that in my opinion, this is the most momentous production it has ever been my pleasure to exhibit. I am welcoming this picture because I am convinced that all patrons will be satisfied that no production heretofore offered has had a greater theme, has been better photographed and directed, nor has had a more carefully chosen cast of screen artists.

Yours truly,

WILL DISCUSS WORLD AFFAIRS

Large Crowd Expected to Attend the Chamber of Commerce Meet.

(By the Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, April 20.—Many questions at present agitating the business world will come up for discussion at the ninth annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to be held in Atlantic City, April 22 to 29. A large attendance is expected.

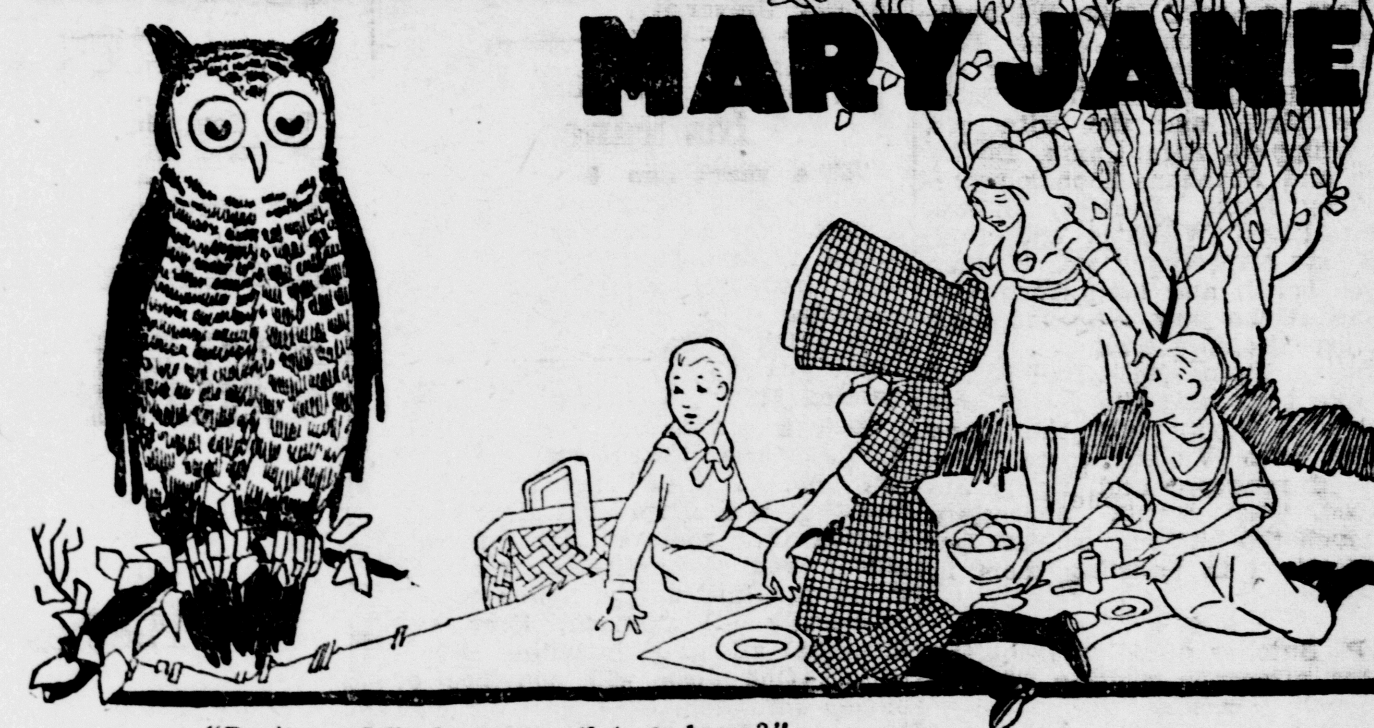

The proposition to change the tariff will be considered in these phases: Should the tariff not be framed with due regard to export trade sales or the protection of manufacturing in the United States? Should the fact that the United States now is a national creditor alter the American tariff policy with respect to protection? Should the United States tariff offer trading or bargaining possibilities for international commercial treaties to encourage export trade? Should the United States tariff be liberal in its provisions in view of the American desire for liberality of tariff on the part of other countries?

A resolution favoring the holding of an exposition in Philadelphia in 1926 to commemorate the 150th anniversary of American Independence with proper business, governmental and foreign support, will be offered for adoption.

Other proposals that are expected to be acted upon by the convention are:

"Don't you folks know enough to go home?" says the owl to Mary Jane

Mary Jane and the Sunday School Picnic

ONE day in July the Sunday School gave a picnic in the woods. Everybody brought a big basket full of good things to eat, spread them all out on the table cloths on the ground. There was ham and pickles and hard boiled eggs and sandwiches and cake.

But what everybody liked best of all was a big can of Mary Jane Syrup that Mary's mother brought. Everybody said, "Please pass me some Mary Jane Syrup"—until there wasn't a single bit left in the can.

Then they sang songs and played games and told stories until Mr.

Google-Eye—the Owl, came around and said, "Say, don't you folks know enough to go home when it's getting dark? You won't get any supper if you don't hurry up."

And everybody went home. But they all said they never did have so much fun, nor so many de-licious things to eat before. And they never would be without Mary Jane Syrup in the house again—for waffles, pancakes, and to make most delicious Mary Jane taffy everybody was talking about.

Thankful He Was Not a Woman. The late Lawson Tail, of England the great woman's doctor, said he never went to bed at night without thanking heaven he was not born a woman. No doctor ever knew better than he what women have to suffer at some times of their lives. It was an American woman, long since passed to her reward, who introduced a combination of roots and herbs called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that has proved wonderfully successful in mitigating suffering and relieving diseases of women. It has brought relief to thousands of women who suffered from female ills. WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

By EDITH MORIARTY

Lena Madesin Phillips, who is often called the "mither" of the National Federation of Business and Professional Clubs, has seen the 1919 grow until it now includes more than 300 clubs of business and professional women and is represented in forty-seven states and the District of Columbia.

Miss Phillips is the daughter of Kentucky judge who occupied the bench for more than forty years. She is said to have inherited some of his ability always to see both sides of a question. She was educated in college and in music in Baltimore and afterwards took the degree of Bachelor of Law in the university of her own state. She was engaged in the practice of law here when the call came for her to go a certain piece of war work in New York city.

It was while in New York that Miss Phillips organized the National Federation of Business Women's Clubs, which has since extended rapidly throughout the country. She is at present its executive secretary, with headquarters in New York city. She is an alert, active leader of women, one who never loses the personal touch.

Miss Phillips has been a hard student, having been the first honor graduate, either among men or women, which her law school produced. She is a lover of outdoor sports, motoring, fishing, swimming and hunting. She is pleasing in personality and a forceful speaker.

Her ideals for the business women of the nation are: Greater economic freedom, more efficient work and a more complete service in the local community, state and country.

She is already hard at work on plans for the next national convention to be held in Cleveland this summer.

Playing Politics in Philadelphia. A protest was filed in Philadelphia recently by the democratic women's county committee against permitting Mrs. Douglas Robinson of New York, sister of Theodore Roosevelt, to speak at mass meetings. Mrs. Robinson is a republican and in previous speeches in other cities has criticized the politics of her former administration.

All the Socialists who ran for office in Milwaukee were defeated, except Mrs. Victor L. Berger, who was elected to the school board.

The first regular ball game will be played Sunday at Fair Ground Park, between Ada and Konawa. The Ada club has been practicing hard the last four weeks when ever the weather permitted. The boys are now in the best of condition and are very eager to test their prowess in a real game. The lineup of the Ada club will be as follows.

Reed, catcher; Williams pitcher; Rutledge, first base; Fain, second base; Roach, third base; Waner, short stop; MacMillan, West, Orr, Sparks, Oliver, Tolbert, Burkhardt, outfielders.

Williams the young pitcher has lots of smoke, excellent control and shows promise of developing into an artist of the first class. At short stop Waner is getting everything and looks even better than he did last season. Fain, at second base, is absolutely reliable and is a might good partner for Waner at short. Rutledge, at first, is playing his usual good game and shows the same disposition to hit them between center and right field. Conn Roach at third, is playing a nice game and his pegging to first is almost perfect.

In the event of the disablement of the regular players at second, short of third or any of these positions can be covered by Orr, who is one of the best infielders who ever worked on the Ada diamond. Ben Tolbert has been working out both at first and in the outfield and while he has not had enough work to get himself in first class condition, he has been showing some of his old time form. Oliver, in the outfield, has been out just a short time but is hitting the ball and fielding nicely. MacMillan has been playing all spring with Maud and it is reported that he is eating them up in the outfield and hitting the ball. Burkhardt can catch or play outfield and is considered reliable in either position. Zip West can play outfield and any infield position, which includes both pitching and catching and is a very dangerous man at the bat.

Konawa has taken on new life in baseball, having built themselves a new park and grandstand. The city expects to have a club that will compete with all comers.

The game Sunday will be called at 3 p. m. and an admission of forty cents will be charged.

All boys in knee pants will be admitted free.

A drama so tense, powerful and realistic that it is impossible to erase its story from your memory. The lesson of Faith and its dynamic virility is wonderfully illustrated in this masterpiece of the silver sheet. Man loses Faith and suffers through his own crimes.
